

THE SQUIRREL CAGE

BY REID BUNDY

WHAT'S IN A NAME—Dave Figueredo, the filling station man, has a jolopy of ancient vintage and doubtful ancestry parked in the garage behind his home on Date Ave. Painted across the stern of the heap in red letters a foot high is the name, "Tired Iron." It really looks it, too.

DON'T BLAME ME—According to a clipping from the Augusta (Kans.) Gazette which came my way this week, the fact that a man leaves a girl at the altar doesn't always mean he has lost his nerve. It could mean that he has found it.

A LOST CAUSE—Branches of the Bank of America through out the state recently launched a "Service and Courtesy" campaign, complete with neatly printed cards stuck in every teller's window which read, "Service and Courtesy; we strive to give you both." The bank had to reorder thousands of the signs when they disappeared from the banks and started showing up in the offices, factories, and stores of the bank's customers. We'll wager a small fee that the next time the bank has some slogans printed, they'll slip a little advertising on them.

LONG WEEK-END—Herb Allen put a sign up in his hamburger shop this week which said: "Closed Decoration Day." Underneath the announcement he adds that he will reopen July 6. He's going to Detroit over the six-week week-end to attend the International Contests of the SPEBSQSA (barber shop quartets).

OBJECT LESSON—Read somewhere this week that little girls learn to lie before little boys do. The University of California study showed that when it comes to avoiding trouble, four-year-old girls will tell fibs to escape punishment while boys don't discover the possibilities of such tactics until they are six. By then, it would appear, the little boy is hopelessly behind in the art of fibbing and never catches up.

TAX FAX—Jean Alexander says the government has found a new way to save money. "They're using mine," she moans.

LOONEY LOONS—Add this to your picture album. Try to picture a man driving a nail with a banana.

CITY LIMES DEFINED—A remark here recently that we didn't know where downtown El Nido left off and the suburbs began stirred H. L. C. to phone in and say the suburbs began 25 feet west of Hawthorne Ave. on 182nd St. But we meant to the north.

NEAR MISS—Jack Baldwin scored a near-miss in the typographical error department this week when writing the story about the Youth Band Concert.

60 Boys Sign For YMCA Camp Due in July

Sixty boys have already signed up for the Torrance period at Camp Round Meadow in the San Bernardino mountains this summer, it was revealed yesterday by A. C. Turner, chairman of the YMCA camp committee. The figure represents about half of the goal set for the local YMCA, he said.

Of the boys now signed up, 37 are earning all or part of their way to the camp by selling soap. Two boys, Jay Rovestine and Sanfred Smith, have completed their selling and have earned their complete fee. The camp runs from July 14 to July 21.

Of the 60 boys signed up, 47 are from Torrance, one from Redondo Beach, and 12 from Manhattan Beach.

To promote the camp this week, Executive-Secretary Stan Roberts of the local YMCA will be showing films on the camping trip in various schools throughout the area. The new 16mm color sound film is entitled "Adventure in Outdoor Living."

Boys who wish to sign up for the trip may do so by calling Torrance 1563 or visiting the YMCA office at 2080 Washington in Torrance.

Local Hula Duet To Appear on TV

Mickey Van Deventer and Alice Olson, of 1617 Cota Ave., a talented hula duet, have been selected to be one of the seven contestants which will appear on the Tuesday, May 26, telecast of KHTV's "Your Town's Talent" program. "Your Town's Talent," which is televised each Tuesday from 7:30 to 8 p.m. on Channel 9, is designed to give talented amateurs in the Greater Los Angeles area an opportunity to showcase themselves before Southern California viewers. These newcomers represent the stock from which the "stars of tomorrow" will be created. One winner is selected from each telecast of "Your Town's Talent." At the end of 13 weeks these winners vie against one another in a series of elimination contests. From these con-

Psychologist To Speak to Parents Here

Dr. Earl Carnes, who received his Ph. D. from Ohio State University, will be the guest speaker when the Parent Education class meets Tuesday evening, June 2, from 7 until 10 in the Torrance High School cafeteria. Dr. Carnes, a professor in the School of Education at the University of Southern California, is the consulting psychologist for the Torrance Unified School District. Rated as an excellent speaker, his talk on June 2 will cover aspects of mental health in re-
